

Getting richer

LDN:Skins has introduced a new, more intense, Self Tan Mousse – Tone 3 to give a richer, more golden tan to complement Summer fashions.

Concentrations of guide colour and odourless DHA have been intensified so that results are instant, flawless and long lasting. As with all LDN:Skins products, these advanced, organic-based ingredients synchronise with your clients' complexion for natural colouration.

The mousse makes an ideal complement to an in-salon treatment, like the LDN:Skins Couture Spray Tan, enabling your clients to top-up their tan at home.

Naturally bronzing

Combining a custom colour complex, natural skin caring ingredients and sunscreen, Karora's new Gradual Bronzing Moisturiser SPF15 delivers a 3-in-1 gradual bronzing treatment for the skin.

Ideal for jump-starting a tan on both the face and body, colour begins to develop within three to four hours and builds into a deeper tan after two to three further applications. The gradual tan includes an SPF15, which protects against both UVA and UVB rays, delivering an anti-ageing shield.

The moisturiser also contains natural skin caring ingredients, including a proprietary blend of Jojoba, Coconut Oil, Rosemary Leaf extract, vitamin E and essential oil of Argan to soften, soothe and condition the skin.

Into the mist

South Seas' Tahitian Tan Mist is a fast-drying tan in a spray mist formula, creating a golden brown tan.

The tan has been scientifically developed to be non-greasy and easy to apply with even results, promising to look real.

Tahitian Tan Mist has also recently been put to the test in The Daily Telegraph, where it was awarded a nine out of ten.

Filter out harmful particles

Following recent reports about health risks associated with DHA found in spray tan products, LDN:Skins are promoting the use of their nasal filters.

Lena White, founder of LDN:SKINS Ltd says: "Right at the conceptual stage of LDN:Skins I made it clear that I wanted LDN:Skins to be the safest spray tan. That meant protecting against the inhalation of spray tan particles during an application. That's why I insisted on offering only the best extraction and filtration systems and effective nasal filters".

LDN:Skins' NOSII nasal filters are filled with microfibres which filter out minute spray tan particles without interfering with natural breathing, are certified as safe, drug, latex, adhesive and allergen free, and are registered and listed with the FDA.

Anti-ageing bronze

BeautyLab's Peptide Tanning Instant Colour Selftan Mousse incorporates a revolutionary peptide that activates the melanin receptors in the dermis to create a streak-free, natural looking sun-kissed glow.

Utilising a vegetable DHA and highly sophisticated peptide active, the mousse creates a gradual and even looking tan, whilst the vitamin and plant extract rich formulation provides the skin with a hydrating anti-ageing treatment.

Cocoa extract in the formulation provides rich, intense hydrating properties to ensure easy application and moisturisation, and Carrot Oil has the ability to lighten age spots and reduce dark circles. Passion Flower infused with vitamins A, C and E offer protection and maintenance of the skin barrier to defend against excess sun exposure and pollution.
